

Unparalleled wine from the Napa Valley is what Roots Run Deep Winery is all about. The Hypothesis Napa Valley Cabernet Sauvignon is produced from a new and innovative wine making technique called Flash Détente that our winemaker was instrumental in bringing to the United States wine community. This Reserve Cabernet Sauvignon is produced from some of the best vineyards in Napa, Yountville, Rutherford, and Calistoga and shows how innovation can continue to raise the quality of wines without dramatically increasing their costs!

HYPOTHESIS

Hypothesis Napa Valley Cabernet Sauvignon is the first wine of its kind. 100% produced from a brand new winemaking technique called Flash Détente (translation = “instant relaxation”) that was created in Europe in the early 1990’s, yet was only recently introduced in the United States with the help of our winemaker in 2009. Widely used in France by winemakers in Bordeaux and the Rhone (Chateau Beaucastel being the most famous of them), Flash Détente is an all natural and organic pre-fermentation process that simply involves quickly heating and cooling the skins of the fruit before beginning fermentation. The results from this process are incredible color, flavor, and tannin extraction from the grapes as well as many other positive benefits.

WHY HYPOTHESIS?

We have been dreaming of and contemplating how we would produce our Reserve Cabernet Sauvignon for years. Through trial and error, educated guesses, and hypotheses we discovered that barrel fermentation and Flash Détente were the keys to uncovering what we had long been searching for. Our goal was to produce a wine with incredible structure, depth of fruit, and complete oak integration, without being overdone. The Hypothesis Napa Valley Cabernet Sauvignon is rich and complex, but still has incredible finesse. We believe our Reserve Cabernet can go up against some of the big boys in the game, but still leaves a little money in your pocket! Don’t take our word for it and decide for yourself. Drink. Think. Hypothesis

“Ripe, smooth and flashy, this Cabernet easily stands beside more expensive bottlings. It has that Napa Valley quality of elegant complexity and dryness.”

Wine Enthusiast

“The first wine of its’ kind produced using flash extraction, Hypothesis Cabernet Sauvignon has intense blackberry, dark cherry, and currant flavors, layered with deep structure and firm tannins. It drinks beautifully now but will reward those who have the patience to cellar it for several years!”
